The financial storm having been weathered, it remains now for Congress to act with great prudence and circumspection in regard to the multiplicity of financial measures that will be brought to its notice. Numerous schemes looking to carrency expansion are pending, and various modifications and changes in the national banking system are suggested, so that we may certainly look forward to a period of financial perturbation and unsettled values. Any blundering in financial matters at this inneture would be very apt to be fraught with serious con sciences. If our national law makers will content It was ordered that the Carolina to Boston, but this had given out on themselves with making legal provision for perfecting the work of resumpvanced by recent events, there is no apparent reason why the business and the productive industry of the country should not make steady and visible
